Meditation – We know what time it is. We can look at our phone or a watch and find out precisely what time it is. We can also look back in time and mark the exact moment when the most significant events in history happened. On top of that, we can make a pretty good guess of when many things in the future will logically occur. Yet, we do not know when Christ will return and we never will. For that, we must simply wait in eager anticipation, with only our faith as comfort and peace.

Quiet and Personal Confession

Consider this Prayer of Confession:

O God, as we begin this Holy season of Advent once again, we confess that we feel as if we know exactly what to expect. We assume that this month will go very much as it has in the past, and we apply that assumption to our relationship with You. We are not as open as we should be to new lessons and revelations. We know where we will be during the critical moments of the season, and we know what we will be doing, and so we assume that we do not have time for new ministries and new sacrifices that are designed by You. We will be giving and receiving many special gifts, but we still fail to simply sit in awe of the gift that You have given to us by coming into our world. Please forgive us. In Jesus' name we pray, Amen.

Call To Worship

I was glad when they said to me, "Let us go to the house of the Lord." I was glad to know that we were going to return to the place that God has blessed.

The House of God is Holy. God has blessed this place and has set it aside for worship. We bow down here in honor of God's majesty.

I was happy to hear the call to prayer and the call to confession. I was glad to know that we were going to be vulnerable to the Holy Spirit.

We will pray, and when we do, we will open our hearts to the will of God. We will seek God's forgiveness and we will ask for God's help.

I am happy to follow the Lord Jesus Christ. He is the place of worship, and He is the reason to serve and sacrifice. He is God with us.

We know that it is time to give thanks and to prepare. We thank God for coming into our world and we make ready for the birth of our King.
